

Professor Jennifer M. GIDLEY, PhD – Brief Bio

Jennifer M. Gidley, PhD

Futurist, Keynote Speaker, Psychologist, Educator, Author

Adjunct Professor: Institute for Sustainable Futures (UTS) Sydney

Adjunct Professor: Southern Cross University Lismore NSW

Director of Research: Oceanic Research Institute, Australia

President: World Futures Studies Federation (WFSF) 2009-2017.

- A Global Peak Body & UNESCO & UN-ECOSOC Partner.

As President of the World Futures Studies Federation (WFSF), Jennifer led WFSF-UNESCO Participation Projects to develop future leaders in DR Congo, Egypt, Malaysia, Philippines, Mexico and Haiti. She led a network of hundreds of the world's leading Futures scholars and researchers from over 60 countries, and over eight years rebuilt WFSF from a tired, legacy organization into the most influential and respected Futures NGO in the world.

Jennifer has published dozens of academic papers and serves on the editorial boards of several international academic journals. Her edited books include The University in Transformation (2000), and Youth Futures (2002). Her authored books are: Postformal Education: A Philosophy for Complex Futures (Springer, 2016); The Secret to Growing Brilliant Children (Bear Books, 2020); & The Future: A Very Short Introduction (Oxford University Press, 2017).

As a speaker, consultant, and trusted advisor, Jennifer's international engagements include futures-focused projects in Europe (Czech Republic, Finland, France, Germany, Luxembourg, Poland, Romania, Spain & Sweden), Asia (Malaysia, Shanghai & Taiwan), the Middle East (Egypt, UAE and Iran), UK and USA. Her unique projects include: 'Unlocking Foresight Know-How', UK; 'Positive Future Trends', Futerra Group, London, UK; design of an Executive Education Level 'Introduction to Futures Studies' Course in Tehran, Iran; Foresight Factory, UK; and online course creation on 'Global Futures' for Ubiquity University, USA.

She is an Adjunct Professor at the Institute for Sustainable Futures, University of Technology Sydney (UTS), & Southern Cross University, Lismore NSW. She has held academic posts in four Australian universities, including pioneering the online cohort of the Masters in Strategic Foresight, Swinburne University Melbourne. Jennifer has also held a Visiting Professorship at Olomouc University, Czech Republic; Visiting Research Fellowship at SciencesPo, Paris, France; and is a Fellow at the Botin Centre, Santander, and LAB, Barcelona, both in Spain. Jennifer's PhD dissertation (2008) on "Evolving Education" was awarded the Chancellor's Gold Medal for Academic Excellence in 2010.

Email: jennifer@jennifergidley.com

Website: www.jennifergidley.com